MUSCLE SHOALS FIGHT WILL BOB UP IN CONGRESS

Many Solons Favor Government Operation of Huge Plant Violation of Naval Armament Treaty Is Alleged

Washington, Nov. 26.—According to plans, the senate will begin its consideration on Dec. 3, two days after congress convenes, of the Muscle Shoals project, with its great resources for the manufacture of cheap fertilizer.

Because of the clash in opinions between those favoring government operation and various groups advocating sale to private interests, an early decision is unlikely. The situation has been further complicated by the recent action of Henry Ford in withdrawing his offer.

To prevent a direct fight on the floor of the senate over government ownership, administration leaders sponsored a plan for recommitting the problem to the senate agriculture committee. A combination of southern senators, who favored Ford's offer, with the administration group will probably result in this action, and a further postponement of any final decision toward future operation of the project.

Three plans meanwhile remain before congress. These are: Creation of a government corporation to operate the plant, proposed by Senator Norris (Rep., Neb.), and recommended by a majority of the senate agriculture committee; recommendation of President Coolidge for creation of a federal commission to dispose of the project, and proposal of agriculture group opposing government ownership to turn the project over to Secretary of War Weeks for disposal to private interests upon terms to be ratified by congress.

A canvass of senators who have arrived for the opening of congress shows a determination to sidetrack the world court, although the American peace award committee has started a drive for action on the world court at the approaching session. There is little indication that action can be secured on this proposal by March 4. Members of the senate committee on foreign relations are understood to regard it as the most improbable that the senate will act on the world court issue at the present session.

President Coolidge is expected to renew his recommendation for acceptance of the Harding-Hughes proposal, Scanlon well informed members of the senate and its foreign relations committee believe that practically nothing will be accomplished at the short session outside of the passage of the annual appropriation bills.

Congressional investigation into the annex in which Belgium, France, Spain and Italy have carried out the terms of the naval disarmament treaty may result from the scrapping of the American dreadnaught Washington. Critics of the treaty were preparing a resolution authorizing such an investigation as a result of the charges made during the trial to save the Washington, that Great Britain's navy was more than 1,000 tons in excess of the disarmament limitations.

MAN WHO POSED AS MULTI-MILLIONAIRE TO BE EXTRADICTED

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 26.—Leo Koretz, whose winning personality and persuasive tongue enabled him to mult victims of more than $2,000,000 according to authorities and who later posed as Lou Keyte, multi-millionaire patron of the arts, will be extradited to Chicago tomorrow unless someone in Nova Scotia files a criminal complaint against him. Attorney General J. W. O'Hearn announced today.

Meanwhile the sensation caused by Koretz's arrest is unabated today. Many persisted in the belief that the "Lord of Pinehurst" Koretz, was the victim of an unfortunate mistake.

O'Hearn asked all crown prosecutors today to advise him if anyone had filed criminal charges against Koretz. His departure in such a case would force be delayed until hearing on the charges had been held. Possible creditors pressing for payment, however, will not be permitted to intervene.

BUS LAW TO BE ENFORCED IS WORD

Columbus, Nov. 26.—In a letter to Secretary James B. Dugan the state utilities commission ordered the rigid enforcement of the provisions of the Freeman-Collister motor transportation act. The letter directed Dugan, in turn, to request all county prosecutors and sheriffs to proceed with prosecution of all violators and illegal operators. Inspectors for the state utilities regulatory body were ordered to file affidavits against any parties found operating a motor transportation company and who have not obtained the proper certificate of convenience and necessity from the bus commission. Such prosecutions, if any, are to be made in the counties where the offenses are committed, it was ordered. The penalty for failure to comply with the law in respect to the commercial operation of motor vehicles, is a fine not to exceed $1,000 or imprisonment in the county jail of not more than one year, or both.

White today ordered Thomas Davis, a commissioner of conciliation, to Scranton, Pa., with instructions to mediate the strike of 12,000 anthracite miners employed by the Pennsylvania Coal Company at Oilfiant, Underwood and in the Pittston district.

The department was advised the strike was called because of the alleged failure of the company to adjust certain grievances of the miners and was not authorized by the United Mine Workers.

REIGN OF QUIET IN CAIRO LEADS TO HOPE THAT EGYPTIAN CRISIS OVER

Cairo, Nov. 26.—British troops again paraded the streets of Cairo again fixed bayonets today after a day of quiet had led British authorities to hope the Egyptian crisis had passed.

Ahmed Ziwari Pasha, the new premier, has not stated what his policy will be but said that he hoped for peace and expected that Great Britain and Egypt would be able to cooperate.

With parliament adjourned until opportunity to give Premier Ziwari an opportunity to determine Egyptian policy, there were hopes that no outbreak would complicate the situation during the month intervening.

Evacuation of Egyptian troops from the Sudan continues with British forces moving into replace them in accordance with the British demands.

Lieutenant General Sir Richard Hanking, commanding the British troops in Egypt, reviewed three battalions of British concentrated here under the orders to prepare reinforcements for the Sudanese detachments.

Students describing themselves as Zaghoul Pasha's "army" have pledged a ten day strike in support of their protest against the British demands.

According to witnesses, Judge Coultrap attempted to cross from the east to the west side of the street while traffic was moving north and south. He became confused and walked into the path of the truck. The truck knocked him to the pavement, but did not pass over his body. His head struck violently on the street, causing the skull fracture, which resulted in his death. Judge Coultrap is survived by his widow and six children.

When arrested, Rausch had a loaded revolver, a screw driver and a wrench on his person. Search of his home revealed loot valued at $6,000. Rausch is said to have confessed to police that he robbed twelve homes and authorities are checking his loot in an endeavor to track more thefts to him.

U. S. COMPLIES WITH TERMS OF ARMS AGREEMENT

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 26.—Surrounded by as much as secrecy as prevailed during wartime, the great hull of the unfinished super dreadnaught Washington lies under 50 fathoms of water, off the Virginia cape today, and marks the completion of America's full compliance with the arms agreement.

Except that the giant craft, representing an expenditure of $35,000,000 had been sunk, nothing further could be learned in navy circles here.

The battleship Texas steamed up to the Norfolk navy yard shortly before noon today.

It is believed that the Washington went down sooner than was expected by ordnance experts aboard the Texas.

The Washington was so badly battered from previous attacks and her hold so full of water that she sank at the first fusillade from the Texas.

Miners on Strike.
Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 25.—Three members of the executive committee of the United Mine Workers of America met here to make plans and preparations for the care of striking miners and their families of the Kanawha coal fields. While union officials place the number of strikers at between 35,000 and 50,000, the Kanawha Coal Operators' association says that there are fewer than 2,000 miners out.

TWO MORE ARE TO BE SENTENCED ON NEXT SATURDAY

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe stated he would pronounce sentence Saturday on William J. Fahy, former postal inspector, and James Murray, Chicago politician, convicted of complicity in the $2,000,000 mail robbery at Rondout, Ill. Walter McComb, the third man on trial for the holdup of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail train, was acquitted. It was in his flat that several of the robbers, who later confessed, were arrested.

Six others, including Brent Glasscock, alleged leader of the holdup band; Herbert Holliday and four Newton brothers, all of whom pleaded guilty, will be sentenced with Fahy and Murray. It is expected.

Mrs. Avis Glasscock, wife of Brent Glasscock, who was arrested with him in Battle Creek, Mich., was freed. She had been held in bonds of $100,000, and it had been reported that she might be a witness against Murray and Fahy.

STATE SUPREME COURT WILL PASS UPON ITS VALIDITY.

Columbus, Nov. 26.—The Ohio supreme court will decide whether the Freeman-Collister motor bus act, regulating motor bus traffic and commerce, is superior to the home rule clause of the constitution of Ohio.

The court admitted for review the case of Mayor Charles F. Scheible of Youngstown, on behalf of his city, against John H. Hogan of Youngstown, who represents the bus men of that city. In passing upon the Youngstown case the court will clear up the situation, which affects many Ohio cities.

In the Youngstown case a city ordinance conflicts with orders of the public utilities commission, made under the Freeman-Collister act. The city contends that under the home rule clause its ordinances affecting local problems should supersede the Freeman-Collister act, or what the commission may do under its provisions. The other side contends that the Freeman-Collister act affects statewide issues and should have preference over local ordinances.

Whether the provisions of the Freeman-Collister act regulating commercial auto traffic takes precedence over provisions of the co-operative marketing law will also be passed upon by the supreme court. The court consented to review the case of Melvin H. Hissem against Matthew B. Guran and Cancy Myers, all of Summit county. Hissem operates trucks under the Freeman-Collister act, while Guran and Myers haul milk over the same route under contract with the Milk Producers' association, authorized by the co-operative law. Hissem, after failing to get injunctions against Guran and Myers in the lower courts, came to the supreme court.

The supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the horsepower and trucking clauses of the Ohio motor license law. Both tests of the auto license law came from Franklin county and were directed against Thad H. Brown as secretary of state. For some time truck owners had refused to buy 1924 licenses, pending the outcome of these cases. Recently, however, the supreme court refused to grant the truck owners an order restraining Brown from compelling them to take out their new tags.

CHARLES MACKRODT IS INSTANTLY KILLED AS COMPANION USES GUN

Argument Terminates in Fatal Shooting Wednesday Morning at Main and Detroit Streets When Cliff Latimer Draws Gun and Shoots Former Friend.

Charles S. Mackrodt, 52, of 408 Cincinnati Avenue, was shot three times and instantly killed at the Steele Bldg. corner, Main and Detroit Streets, Wednesday morning.

C. W. Latimer, 45, of 630 West Second Street, Pennsylvania Railroad patrolman and former Big League baseball catcher, gave himself up to Sheriff Morris Sharp and Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, immediately after the shooting. He will be charged with first degree murder, according to J. K. Williamson, prosecutor.

Four bullets from a .38 calibre police revolver ended Mackrodt's life. All four shots entered the back, passed through the body, and came out. One pierced the heart; one came out below the ribs on the left side and one evidently pierced the abdomen. One bullet was recovered from the clothing.

The body was carried into the lobby of The Home Building and Savings Company, Steele Bldg., immediately afterward, but death had already taken place. Dr. H. C. Messenger verified that death was instantaneous in an examination of the body afterward. The body was later removed to the Ralph M. Neeld undertaking parlors, West Main Street, where Dr. R. L. Haines, Paintersville, county coroner, viewed the remains.

The shooting culminated an argument that began on the south-west corner of the street intersection, near the Commercial and Savings Bank. Both the quarrel and shooting were witnessed by a number of bystanders. All agreed that after quarrelling in angry tones on the Commercial Bank corner, the men walked to the Steele Bldg., corner, near the Quality Sweet Shop and continued the argument. They said Mackrodt eventually turned his back on Latimer and walked to the curb, facing south. Latimer, bystanders say, walked a few steps west, pulled his revolver from his pocket and shot four times in rapid succession, all four bullets taking effect before Mackrodt fell backward on the sidewalk. Latimer walked passed the body, looked at it, and then walked between two automobiles toward the Court House.

Sheriff Sharp, Deputy Baughn and George Eckert, who was in the sheriff's office, were watching the men when the shooting occurred.

The two officers ran from the building toward Latimer and as they approached he drew his gun, and held it aloft in token of surrender. He was questioned in the sheriff's office shortly afterward by Prosecutor Williamson and his statement taken. Testimony of the other witnesses was also taken.

He was going to attack me with a knife," Latimer is said to have told authorities who questioned him. The knife in question, a Masonic pocket knife, was found in Mackrodt's pocket with the blades closed. It was the only weapon the victim of the shooting had. Latimer carried a gun because of the fact he is a regularly sworn officer for the railroad.

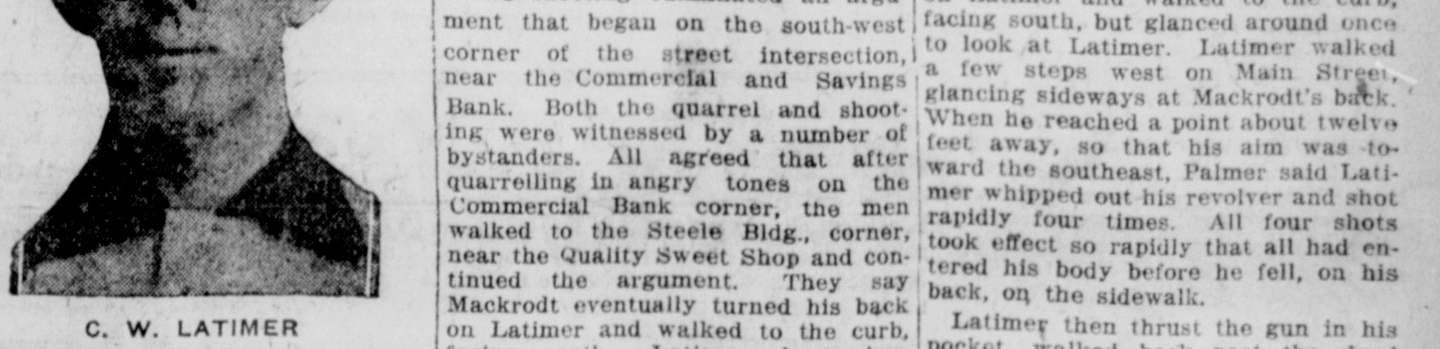

Trouble between the two, who were formerly fast friends, is said to have dated back three months when Mackrodt, who was lieutenant of railroad police directly over Latimer, was released from duty. Friends say ill feeling had existed between the two since then, Mackrodt accusing Latimer of making false statements about him. This, Latimer is said to have denied.

A. D. Palmer, 7 Locust Street, round house employe, told authorities he was standing within a few feet of the men on the Allen Bldg. corner when the argument started. He said Mackrodt accused Latimer in a loud voice of telling lies about him and used profane language. According to Palmer, Latimer attempted to placate Mackrodt, denying he had made any such statements and declaring several times that he did not want to have any trouble.

Palmer said Latimer finally asked Mackrodt to lead him to the man who said Latimer had told lies about Mackrodt. Mackrodt said "come on" and the two started across the street. According to Palmer, when they reached the middle of the street, Mackrodt urged Latimer to go with him to an alley to settle the argument in a fight. Palmer told the prosecutor that he continually urged Latimer, even taking hold of his arm, but that Latimer had refused with the remark that he did not want to have any trouble. Mackrodt also said, according to Palmer, that he did not fear Latimer's gun, which he knew him to carry.

When the men reached the opposite side of the street they could not be heard by Palmer, he said, but he watched them continue the argument. He said Latimer stood with his back against the Main Street side of the Steele Bldg., near the corner, while Mackrodt stood in front of him. During the argument, he said, Mackrodt shook his finger repeatedly at Latimer.

Palmer told authorities that Mackrodt evidently intended to terminate the argument when he turned his back

MOTOR BUS ACT IS UNDER FIRE OF OPPOSITION

NATIONAL BUDGET TO BE COMPLETED

Washington, Nov. 26.—The national budget for the next fiscal year, as completed at a conference between President Coolidge and Budget Director Lord, limits the ordinary expenditures of the government to a figure well under the $1,800,000,000 total fixed by President Coolidge in his talk last June to government fiscal officers. Mr. Lord declined to reveal the precise total or discuss details of the budget, but he said previous expectations of the governmental economies had been more than realized. For one thing, the original estimates of the cost of the soldiers' bonus law had proved too high. The small number of applications for the insurance bonus permitted a reduction in the annual fund allowed for amortization purposes, while additional cuts were made in the estimated cost of administration of the bonus law.

SUMMER COTTAGE BURNS TO GROUND TUESDAY EVENING

The summer cottage, owned by Arthur Garfield, this city, was entirely destroyed by fire, Tuesday evening about 5 o'clock, the blaze starting from an unknown origin.

He had planned to entertain a party of friends at the cottage Tuesday evening and a fire had been built in the living room in preparation for the guests. It is not known whether a spark or defective wiring caused the blaze. Neighbors were attracted to the fire a short time after it started but efforts to stop the blaze were fruitless.

The cottage was located on the bank of the Little Miami River, on land owned by Frank Hawkins. Furniture of the cottage, which consisted of a living room, screened porch and sleeping quarters, was entirely destroyed. The engine house, nearby, where the power for the cottage was generated, was saved from the blaze.

YES, IT'S EARLY, BUT—

There are less than 30 shopping days until Christmas. We presume to invite the public to do its shopping early. The days pass swiftly—Christmas soon will be here, almost before one realizes the fact.

Merchants of every degree appreciate early buying, the clerks and shippers and railway companies appreciate and desire early activity in this direction. The Christmas rush is an annual nightmare for the millions of people who must handle it. The average individual is able to plan and carry out his holiday program during these prefestival days. Gifts intended for friends and members of families living outside the city are more certain to be received by them in good condition if purchased and sent to their destination now. Many disappointments are occasioned by belated buying and sending. Make sure that the happiness of some one may not be clouded by neglect on your part.

Another thing that should be remembered is that Christmas is a holiday on all rural routes. The postal authorities advise the public that parcels for delivery on rural routes should be mailed so as to reach the offices at least three or four days before Christmas; also the public is informed that there is no objection to placing on holiday gift packages the inscription, "Please do not open until Christmas," or words to that effect.

Give attention to these things and see to it that all packages are carefully wrapped and addressed, and you will add much to the pleasure of what should always be the happiest day in the year.

The Christmas trade is already active, do your part to help it along, beginning today.—Enquirer.

PINCHOT ON PROHIBITION

In his remarks before the Methodist Episcopal Men's Council Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania was terribly severe upon the federal prohibition enforcement service, which he denounced as a bitter, brutal joke. He declared that the enforcement unit in Washington has never yet made an honest effort to do its duty but has made a willful and disgraceful failure of its task.

This violent denunciation seems to be justified by the facts but, as Gov. Pinchot was quick to point out, it is not fair to lay the blame for all the trouble on the enforcement service, bad as it is. The ultimate responsibility rests with those who defy the law and buy liquor. Many of these persons regard themselves as good and loyal citizens and yet if they did not transgress the law of the land the bootlegger and the crooked enforcement agent would have to go out of business. Without the demand the supply would cease to exist and so, as Gov. Pinchot said, the buyer is really a worse offender than the seller.

This is what must be brought home to the public mind before the prohibition situation can be decently straightened out—a sense of individual moral responsibility must be developed. We can hardly expect bootleggers to retire from their nefarious but profitable business or weak and greedy enforcement officers from theirs as long as church members and pillars of society trample on a law they do not like and make a joke or a boast of it.—Ohio State Journal.

COMPARISON

My golf is not so very good.
My bank account is always low.
The motor near my auto's hood
Is not an "eight" but it will go;
I do not wear silk underwear,
Or coats by costly tailors made,
Or shoes I've but one extra pair,
And but one hat my brow to shade;
And yet despite the lack of style,
Which marks the course that I
Must run,
I keep on living all the while
And seem to have a lot of fun.

My overcoats, when winds blow cold,
Is stout enough to keep me warm,
This year it will be three years old
And sag a trifle round my form,
But what of that? I shall not freeze
Nor feel the weather more than they
Who bought their garments overseas
At prices I could never pay;

Comparisons are relative
When everything is said and done,
Though on a lesser plane I live,
I get my share of honest fun.

My friends are neither rich nor great,
But I am fond of them, and they
Are fond of me, I dare to state.
What more can pomp and fortune say?

We share each others' joys and woes,
We laugh and sing when skies are blue,
We've all the charms true friendship
knows,
What more can richer friendships
do?

As day by day and year by year
I wake to greet the morning sun,
Cat, toll and shore life's beauty here,
And seem to get my share of fun.

A GOOD AD
COMMANDS IT

Do you know the five functions of advertising? They are listed below.

1. To command attention; the ad must be seen. Recent ads of the Bradley Knitting Mills are good examples of this.
2. To create interest; the ad must be read. The ads for Mennen's Shaving Soap fulfill this requirement very well.
3. To establish conviction; the ad must be believed. Ads for Packard automobiles are good examples of this.
4. To impress the memory; the ad should be remembered. Almost every one remembers The Washburn-Crosby Milling Company's "Eventually—Why Not Now?" advertisement.
5. To produce a result; the ad must be acted upon. The ads for Listerine are very successful in producing the desired results.

Brown Rice Cake: The brown or uncooked rice is especially good for us. Lime, which is found in all cereal, predominates in brown rice. White, refined rice is more attractive in appearance and we could not give it up entirely; but we should also eat an abundance of the brown rice, for the coating of the latter is rich in minerals which we need. To make the brown rice cakes, cook one cup of brown rice in one quart of sweet milk, with a pinch of salt, till the rice is tender and has absorbed the milk. It may be necessary to add a little more milk if the rice becomes too dry. When tender add to it one-third cup of butter, one-fourth cup of granulated sugar and the grated rind and juice of one-half lemon. Mix so gently that you do not break the rice kernels, then cool, form in small cakes, dip these in flour, and fry them on a hot greased griddle, turning when browned on one side when browned on one side. Serve hot with maple syrup.

Baked Gingerbread Pudding: Use left-over gingerbread for this pudding. Break it up into crumbs and measure. You will need two cupsful. Let these crumbs stand in three cups of sweet milk for 15 minutes, then add to the mixture one-half cup of brown cup, one-half teaspoon of ground cinnamon, one-third teaspoon of ground nutmeg, and small pinch of ground cloves. Last, stir in two well-beaten but un-separated eggs. Turn this into a buttered pudding dish, stand the dish in a shallow pan containing a little hot water, and slip into a hot oven to bake for 40 to 45 minutes. Serve hot with any good hard sauce. (A brown-sugar and butter sauce flavored with vanilla makes a good choice.)

Cream Cheese Salad: Either cottage or cream cheese may be used. Add to one-half cupful of it one-half red sweet pepper which has been finely diced (seeds removed). Or use one tablespoonful of canned pimientos instead. Form the cheese into small balls and place these on crisp lettuce leaves which have been sprinkled with French Dressing.

Answer to "Mrs. P. C." and "Oakland Reader": I am afraid your picilli and Chili Sauce are spoiled because of the condition you mention. I would not dare to eat it myself, and should advise you not to. It is too bad but we all make some mistakes, don't we? Plenty of other housekeepers have had the same misfortune.

Today's Talks

THROUGH THE SHADOWS
Like a lace veil of woven black I see the fringe of trees that stretch across my study windows in front of me.
Colors, that seem almost perfumed are melting into the gray of the drowsy day.
Waving to and fro are the stripped and delicate reachings of limbs that have held the recently fall leaves. I thought back to the early mornings and late evenings of spring and summer when these same trees were sprinkled with dew or rain, and sparkled like polished jewels.
I thought how akin to Nature is every movement and thought of life. We see beauty through the shadows—then the night comes on and all is dark. Nothing but the memories of beauty remain. But there is nourishment for the soul in beauty, in sweetened memories, in the pictured events of all the natural movements of the out-of-doors.

How much human experience is a replica of the day and night.
Morning with its sunlight and hope noon with its promise of warmth and fulfillment, evening with its sunset and peace, then the shadows and the dark.
Sometimes it does seem as though shadows and the dark last too long. But there is always the promise of the morrow!
Then life starts all over again. We are nothing very much as each day would measure us, but from the sum of the days we are what we are!
And often through the shadows we are molded and measured most.

MOTHERS YOUNGER KIDDIES STRONGER

CocoCod Is Replacing Rouge As Result of Investigation In Our Schools

Mother's are growing younger as their kiddies grow stronger! Awakened to the full value of a new feeding and building process by the recent investigation in our public schools, women are finding CocoCod, a new easy-to-take form of cod liver oil, a welcome substitute for rouge in causing roses to bloom in pallid cheeks.

Startling as was the revelation that 40% of our students are literally underfed—suffering from malnutrition and vitamin deficiency—it has had a wholesome and far-reaching effect. Medical authorities who believe this underfeeding responsible for much of the ill health among adults, recommend cod liver oil as a means to renewed vigor for men and women as well as children.

In CocoCod the taste of rich cocoa is welcomed by youngsters as much as the strength-building vitamins and pure Norwegian cod liver oil are praised by physicians, teachers and nurses. It is truly astounding, even in aged folk, how it wakes up the eliminative organs, creates greater nerve force and causes good red blood to go bounding through the veins.

So far-reaching are its effects in both men and women and among all ages, that thoughtful minds are asking—"Is a new and fuller life opening to us?" What will be the result, they say, when the full benefits of this feeding or building process are realized? Only time can show, but meanwhile CocoCod is bringing new strength, energy, nerve force and vitality to many weak, nervous, half-alive people. Local druggists who are distributing it, as well as physicians and teachers, have been informed concerning its value. Ask for CocoCod if you want the genuine Norwegian cod liver oil in easy-to-take form.—Advt.

COAT CLUE IN COLUMBUS CASE FAILS TO SHOW A SOLUTION

Columbus, O., Nov. 27.—Proof that the scorched and stained coat turned over to police by a local dry cleaning establishment has no connection with the mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. C. V. Sheatsley, Bexley furnace victim, was forthcoming today.

The coat had been left with the cleaners by an unknown man. Tom Jones, who has just completed a five day sentence in the workhouse here, for vagrancy, convinced County Prosecutor King and police officials today that the coat belonged to him and that it has no connection with the Sheatsley mystery.

Jones explained that he had scorched the coat while cooking meals over campfires. The stains, he said, were red paint. His inability to reclaim the coat at the cleaners, Jones stated, was due to his incarceration. Searching for work, Jones said he recently came here from St. Louis.

Announcement that no member of the Sheatsley family will be questioned here before Friday, was made today by Prosecutor King. He said none of the officials working on the case and no person representing them, will meet Rev. Sheatsley and his family upon their return home here today.

"We propose that they shall be permitted to observe Thanksgiving Day unmolested," King said.

WOULD STOP USE OF EMBLEMS ILLEGALLY

Protection for motor club members through legislation making it unlawful for a motorist to display on his car the emblem of an organization of which he is not a member is being advocated by the American Automobile Association according to a bulletin just issued from its national headquarters at Washington D. C.

The association would like to see on the statute books of every state a duplicate of the law now operative in Maryland and has taken steps to seek the co-operation of its many affiliated clubs to this end.

The Greene County Automobile Club heartily approves of this move according to the secretary, Oliver Belden, and may take steps in the near future to campaign against this illegal practice.

To A Lady

Who Refuses To Use Clay
Edna Wallace Hopper

A lady writes me that my beauty helps have brought her wonderful results, but she adds, "It is too much trouble to use clay."

Too much trouble! In my stage work and in these efforts to help women I work 15 hours a day. Yet I would rather miss three meals than miss my clay.

Too much trouble! Yet see what it has done for me. Mine is a grandmother's age, yet I enjoy a eubutante's complexion.

Let me send you a test of my White Youth Clay. It is not like the crude and muddy clays so many have employed. It is white, refined and dainty—the last word in facial clays. And it combines in one product many superlative helps.

My Youth Clay purges the skin of all that clogs and mars it. It removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes. It brings the blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. The result is a rosy after glow which amazes and delights. It firms the skin, combats lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores, eliminates surplus oil.

Many women seem to drop ten years with one application of this clay. To countless women it is bringing priceless benefits—new beauty and new youth. Are such results not worth to you a few minutes twice a week?

Clay is a beauty essential. Famous beauties have for ages used it. No woman can hope to look her best without it, or keep her youth as I have. You can recognize clay users in every circle by their beautiful complexions.

Mine is a super-clay—a new type clay—based on 20 years of scientific study. I have placed it with all drug stores, all toilet counters, so you can get it. The cost is 50 cents and $1. You will thank me for it—always—when you learn what it means to you. I will gladly mail sample if you mail this coupon.

RURAL HIGH SCHOOL AT HLETIC ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED AND SCHE DULE MADE FOR SEASON

Re-organization of the Greene County Athletic Association and the formulating of plans and the program of this season, were effected at a meeting of the association, held in the office of H. C. Aultman, recently Superintendent of schools, recently at Bath, Ross at Cedarville, Yellow Springs at Bellbrook and Spring Valley at Caesar Creek.

The officers are: H. C. Aultman, president; Superintendent O. E. Barr, Yellow Springs, vice-president; Superintendent A. F. Roush, Ross, secretary and Superintendent W. A. Driscoll, Bowersville, treasurer and C. A. Wright, M. E. Collins and W. A. Driscoll, eligibility committee.

The county basketball season will begin December 12 and close February 20. Each team in the county will play all other teams once, both boys and girls. Return games are to be played the following year, it was agreed at the meeting.

There is often a decline, also, in our activities from youth to middle age. Part of this reduction is due to the natural decline of vigor with advancing years, but it is often largely due to the fact that the young man has made his living by hard physical labor, and with an increase of prosperity and brain power has worked into more sedentary occupations. Many American business men start life on the farm, or in the factory, and later remove to the city, or office. Proud of the strength and appetite of their youth, they continue eating habits adapted to strenuous physical activity. All goes well for a time; but at forty or fifty they suffer a breakdown which they lay to the worries and cares of business, when in reality it is due to catering to the strong appetite and ample eating habits developed in youth. A man driving an automobile up a steep hill opens the throttle to give the engine more fuel; if he then comes out on a piece of smooth level road and fails to shut off the surplus fuel we call him a foolish driver. Yet that is the kind of driving that most business men do with their physical machines.

One of the greatest errors that can be made is to try to bolster up declining digestive powers with any of the so-called aids to digestion. It is foolish to tax a weakening digestive power with excessive quantities of food, or to eat foods known to be hard to digest.

Rheumatism

"Good-bye old crutch!"

THERE IS positively no longer any excuse for suffering the agonies of rheumatism! Especially in the autumn of your life, when the vital organs weaken, impurities multiply and linger in the muscles and joints, as never before. It is now, just now, when you cannot afford to guess. No day returns!

Here is a joyous fact which can mean to you a fond farewell forever to all the miseries, the tortures, the body-twisting pains that you have suffered from the demon of rheumatism. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red-cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweet-heart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Truant Soul
By Victor Rousseau

"Gentlemen," cried the secretary, "we've got to talk this matter over, and this isn't the place. If the agreement has worked any injustice to Doctor Lancaster, no doubt it can be readjusted. It is clear that we've got to come to a sensible understanding. Let's face the facts like men, and talk it over in the doctor's room. And this girl had better go upstairs," he added.

"Miss Wentworth stays with me," said Lancaster.

The double and the secretary exchanged ironical glances. It was evident that they did not feel themselves to be in the position of trapped conspirators.

"Doctor Lancaster, if you cannot order them to leave, is it necessary that you should be drawn into a discussion now?" Joan asked.

"Yes, it is necessary," said Lancaster. "I'll fight this thing with Lawson to a finish tonight."

"Lawson?"

"I believe that I am Lawson," said Lancaster's half-brother, with an ironical bow. "Though I have as good a right to the name as Doctor Lancaster here. Perhaps I should have introduced myself before. But now that we are all introduced I am ready to accept Mr. Myers' sensible suggestion."

They went toward Lancaster's room. Joan perceived now that the doctor's weakness was purely a physical one; he dragged his limbs slightly, the curious result of the morphine poisoning that she had noted before. But he was gaining strength rapidly, and his will had never been stronger.

This was the last battle, of which he had so often spoken to her. This fight must end his captivity.

She went into the room with him, confident in that belief. Myers closed the door behind them and placed his thickset body in front of it. It was astonishing to see how Lancaster braced himself for the ordeal. He drew himself up, standing erect, and faced the others.

"Doctor Lancaster has the floor," said Lawson mockingly. "At least, I understand that the proposal to revise our agreement comes from him."

"Joan, I owe you an explanation," said Lancaster, turning toward the girl. "This morning, after I had operated, I was called to the house which people think is mine—which should be mine," he added with sudden vehemence. "I was told it was an urgent case. I found these men there. They drew me into an argument, and in the heat of it Myers plunged a needleful of morphine into my arm."

Let Us Safeguard Our Prosperity

Another year rolls around and with it comes the day set aside for Thanksgiving—a day in which we review the past and give thanks for the bounties that have been bestowed upon us.

This Bank is indeed grateful for the prosperity that it has been favored with—for the confidence the citizens of this community have shown in bestowing such prosperity and for the many acts of kindness and consideration that it has been our privilege to receive from those with whom we came in business contact.

We consider it, indeed, a favor to be able to serve such an intelligent and loyal community as this and hope that every citizen will call upon us whenever we may be able to serve his purpose.
